

...LETTERS TO CARRIE...

Hi Carrie, I just wanted to tell you how much you changed my life five years ago - actually four years ago. My mom had just died and after spending time with you, I knew she was OK and not sick anymore. I was worried she would be alone, instead she was with her dad, my grandparents and all of the dogs that she had that also passed on. Anyway, from that day on, I was able to get on with my life with a better attitude and belief that she's around me always. I wanted you to know just how much it meant to me when you said I would be thank you fine and not to worry about the text. I had to talk. I still worried but in the back of my mind I kept thinking of what you had me. And it got me through that week. Carrie, there will always be people you can't please and who want to blame you for their unhappiness, you have to remember me and the hundreds of people you've helped get through hard times. Thanks again, you are a gift from above and I hope to always have you in my life even if it is every now and then. Love, Carrie, sincerely Cheryl Kraft

...I just wanted to let you know how much you changed my life...I hope to always have you in my life - you are a gift from above...

...I wanted to tell you that I really appreciate you taking the extra time to talk with me the other night...may God bless you...

Hi Carrie,
I'm not sure you'll remember me, so let me re-introduce myself. I'm Lisa Vanderboom's friend (from Lightscream) and about a month ago you very generously did a reading for me at no cost. I just wanted to tell you that you have really helped me deal with the pain of losing my son Nicholas. I am so grateful to you and to all who have helped me through this painful time. I hope that when you use this gift certificate you'll smile and realize how much you are appreciated. Thank you so much - I'll call soon!

*Sincerely,
Delaney Crisid*

Warmest wishes for a bright and joyful Christmas!

I wanted to tell you that I really appreciate you talking with me this past Friday night.

I have always been a little uneasy about talking to a "stranger" about my personal life, but you certainly dispelled any uncomfortable reservations I've had.

As we discussed, I'm going through difficult times in many respects of my life right now. My conversation with you gave me comfort that things will get better.

You told me that I might "Write God a letter turning my problems over to Him. I have not been able to bring myself to do that yet, but I intend to do that in the very near future. I have been praying to God to get me through these difficult times and I feel that, with His help, there is a brighter future.

Again, thank you so very much for speaking to me and the extra time you took to do so. I look forward to speaking to you in the near future. May God bless you, Mike

...You have no idea the doors you have opened up for me...I feel like the world is at my fingertips...

Dearest Carrie,
I wanted to write to thank you for my reading almost a month ago. You have no idea the doors you have opened up for me - especially regarding my "writing, writing, writing!" I have so many ideas for books floating in my head that I seriously am not getting any sleep. You have helped in increasing my confidence about my career to such a high level that I feel like the world is at my fingertips.

Thank you so much for your time and generosity. Good luck getting that syndicated radio show going. I have no doubts of your future success!

Love,

Janeeen

...I was just thinking about you and how much you have brought into my life...Your guidance, support and caring have been an inspiration to me...

Dec., 2001

Carrie - I'll bet you're surprised to get a Christmas card from me! I was just thinking about you and how much you've brought to my life. Your guidance, support, and caring for other people has been an inspiration to me. Best wishes in 2001.

Peace on Earth
